

Find the Facts!

Take Away The Guess Work.

Understanding CMMC And What Is Really Happening.

Here are the facts:

- The CMMC Accreditation Body exists and has the following entity types up and approved (by the CMMC-AB Board of Directors) to start working: Registered Partner Organization-RPO, Registered Practitioners-RP, C3PAO.
- A RPO and RP's are the implementers and consultants for Businesses that are required to follow the CMMC controls and processes now being put in place on contracts. You need to contact an RPO or RP for information on how these new requirements work and guidelines.
- There is the main CMMC Accreditation Body to find facts on Companies and if they are Registered to provide service. Search by Name for Company or person and the City Search is an accurate way to search as well.
- The CMMC Accreditation Body (CMMC-AB) Board of Directors are made up of the Department of Defence and the Stakeholders Committee and many Subcommittees.
- How to become Certified once you have completed all the CMMC Compliance required by your contract. You must use the CMMC-AB portal and request an Assessor. There is the C3PAO-CCP and CCA. You need to request the right one for your contract level requirement. There are very few ready.
- Don't get caught without being complete on your contract level requirements by the time your contract goes into effect. Prepare for your contract level ahead of time.

One additional piece of advise...

If you currently have Federal Contracts that are bound by the requirements of DFARS or NIST 800-171 and you have not implemented the contract requirements contact a company like Steady Networks that can help you. In case you ever hear this... "We are certified as a NIST 800-171 Provider" ...this is false. There is no certification for a NIST 800-171 Provider. The closest companies you can find that can help you are a "Registered" company with the CMMC Accreditation Body.

Find out about your CMMC Level 1 through 5 Requirements. Contact a Trusted and Registered RPO/RPO. Steady Networks is providing advice and assistance Nationwide and is based in New Mexico - Demystify the new CMMC Requirements is what we do.
